Subject: question on multi-state fuel waiver
Date: Saturday, September 16, 2017 10:33:14 AM

Hi Steve,

We noticed in today's Region 6 report (page 7) that it says that EPA extended the multi-state fuel waiver to October 1, 2017. OECA explained to us yesterday that the multistate waiver expired yesterday because it was the end of the summer "high ozone" season that requires low RVP fuel, and the waiver allows the use of higher RVP "winter" fuel to be used. As of today, OECA explained that the use of winter fuel is what the regs require, which is why the waiver ended (no further need). We'd like to confirm whether or not there is a different multi-state fuel waiver that was extended to October 1st, so we can close the loop.

Thanks,

Cheryl
